Pastor's Nickel – Learning Curves

Pastor's Nickel

This week I have been watching Ineke do orientation for Rebecca on how to do the Custodian & Facilities Manager position. I had not realized there were so many details to take into consideration from keys to boiler, to air conditioners, to who to call to fix the dishwasher and who to call to get rid of mice (yes, sometimes we find church-mice here). It is a steep learning curve, but one that not insurmountable. I find that growing into the Christian life is also a learning curve. And a fully devoted devotional life with Christ does not just naturally happen, it often takes learning, mentoring, and discipline to maintain a Christian walk that aligns with the heart of Christ. It is the kind of work that may seem difficult in the moment, but rewarding in the long view not only as we look back in life, but toward our eternity. Keep up the good work and if you are struggling, remember that you have a whole family here at Covenant that is here cheering you on to do well in this Kingdom work.

That's my nickel. Pastor Bob
